Quotes from You're Flawless Book:

"Speak words of peace, joy, and life to yourself. There are plenty of people in your life who are well prepared to give you negative feedback or criticism."

"Choose the option that offers the most options. I suggest that this become the new mantra in your life whenever you have to make a decision,"

"People fail in life because they set goals too low and achieve them."

"We can sometimes be our greatest obstacle by holding on to the unnecessary. There was a woman who was a sanitation worker. Her job was to collect the rubbish from cans on the sidewalks throughout the city and the parks. At the end of each day at work, she would take a shower, put on nice clothes, comb her hair, and meticulously put on a full face of make-up. When a co-worker asked why she did this she replied, "Just because I work with garbage doesn't mean I have to bring it home with me." You don't have to keep unnecessary garbage from others or from yourself. Dump it!"

"You harvest what you plant. You cannot expect good fruit to come from bad seeds. Plant positive opinions about yourself and weed out wrongful personal judgements. Sow seeds of success and positivity in your life. Do not focus on your flaws and failures; learn from them and move forward. Begin and end each day with a positive message to yourself. Create a vision of success in your mind each day."

Encouraging our world:

One heart at a time.
One family at a time.
One nation at a time.

While I was taking my final counseling course in graduate school, I realized that I was being educated in assisting individuals in need of assistance after or during an emotional or traumatic event. I was determined not only to help those persons, but empower and equip others with educational and mental resources in a preventative approach to an encouraging healthy mental and emotional lifestyle.
